

LawEd breaks down complex legal terminology and fear to help today's teenager, young adult and adult learner equip themselves with essential knowledge and life skills around the fascinating world of law.

LawEd is a multi-award winning company that strives towards bringing the world of law into the classroom

Law is for everyone to understand and work with, not just lawyers.

“ LawEd's TY law module has been a regular and highly valued part of our TY curriculum over many years. 5 Stars all around for professionalism, course content, engagement from students and fun. While it is the high profile cases and mock trial that grabs their attention it is their own social media use that spurs their action. "I've changed all my passwords", "Brilliant", "Best thing we did all year" some of the comments from this year's group. Looking forward to having LawEd back again next year. ”

Mary Pat Pilkington
TY Co-Ordinator Our Lady of Lourdes, New Ross, Co. Wexford.

LawEd

Providing legal literacy to all.

Onsite, virtual & eLearning legal education hub for Junior Certificate students

About LawEd

LawEd is an educational hub that educates our youths on how law impacts their daily lives. We provide onsite, virtual and eLearning law workshops and courses.

With over 11 years' exemplary experience as an educator or the law, we have fine-tuned our programmes to deliver best-in-class experiences for young adults.

As a nation, it is our role to bring about equality, positive change and empowerment to our communities and we believe that education is the best way to achieve this.

What We Do

LawEd presents real life examples to illustrate how the law works.

We also advise and encourage a blended learning approach of adding one of our eLearning courses – 21st century, self-directed learning using cross platform devices.

Our eLearning courses deliver content in which the student engages with the material through animation, videos, graphics, visuals, scenarios, activation questions and quizzes.

Our Services

LawEd is today one of the premier providers of Junior Cycle law workshops having worked now with thousands of students nationwide.

We have created a unique and niche eLearning course for the junior cycle student called 'The Law & You'.

Under the mandatory wellbeing curriculum, LawEd has created a programme on legal literacy which can be used within the life skills module.

This is self-directed, 21st century learning using cross platform devices that is run over a 6/10-week period and is suitable and adaptable to all school timetables.

Educators and facilitators will also be provided with access and to workbooks which will enhance learning and debate of this short life skills course.

Educators and facilitators will be updated on students' progress throughout.

What will the students learn?

- An understanding of the Irish legal system
- What is democracy
- An overview of the Irish & EU courts structure
- What is the difference between civil and criminal law?
- Criminal law explained
- Juvenile justice and detention schools
- The rights of young people
- Consent, sexual relationships and sexual offences.
- Young people and related offences such as assault, self-defence, hate crimes
- Civil law explained including sports law, negligence, trespass, personal injuries
- Online privacy and social media – coco's law, cyberbullying, image-based violence, digital footprint, online etiquette

'The Law & You' Course is specifically designed to educate Junior Cycle Students as part of the Wellbeing Curriculum (life skills module).

All the above courses are delivered in a very interactive, teenager centred friendly manner. With so much misinformation out there especially across social media channels we are a respected and trusted resource enhancing legal literacy, life skills and social education.

We believe through debate and open conversation students will gain a fuller understanding of the personal implications of their actions and behaviours as well as their rights.

Young people understanding and engaging with the law is our core objective.
